THE ORIGINS

Since its founding in 1906 to the 40s, Budacolor steadily increased until its transformation into a state company, this helped , during the years of the "iron curtain", its success as the largest producer of printing inks Eastern Europe .

The early 90s led to the breakdown of many of the state companies, which were acquired by private groups.

THE ACQUISITION OF SAMOR GROUP

In 2002, recognizing its potential, the Samor Group decided to acquire Budacolor. The decision was to re-launch Budacolor maintaining the brand, the same which had brought the production of the Hungarian offset inks internationally. The choice was to focus on the qualitative aspects aiming for excellence in all parameters. Bright colours, shiny and scratch-resistant, outstanding results in a short time, innovative formulas vegetable-based. A range of colours designed to meet the most different expectations and requirements of the sector.
